DETAILED ACTION

Status of the Application

Receipt of the request for extension of time and the Terminal Disclaimer, both filed 06/29/04 and the Amendment after Final Office Action and Applicant's Arguments/Remarks filed 06/09/04 is acknowledged.

Claims 25 and 26 are pending. Claim 26 has been amended.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 25 and 26 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The instant invention is drawn to a composition that reduces the incidence of nausea and vomiting associated with the administration of paroxetine, comprising paroxetine, or a pharmaceutically acceptable salt thereof, in a controlled and delayed release swallow pharmaceutical formulation that, upon administration, releases the paroxetine predominantly in the small intestine.

The primary reason for allowance is that the prior art (Johnson WO 92/09281) does not disclose nor fairly suggest a composition comprising paroxetine in both a controlled and delayed release formulation and does not teach a method of treating one or more diseases states as claimed in instant claim 26. Rather, the prior art merely indicates that delayed or controlled formulations were known, however, the prior art itself, does not teach or suggest a formulation comprising a controlled and delayed release formulation. Applicants specification contains and defines the terms 'controlled release' and 'delayed release' formulations. The instant specification also contains multiple examples demonstrating paroxetine compositions in controlled and delayed release formulations. The controlled and delayed release combination of paroxetine as instantly claimed provides an unexpected reduction in the side effects associated with the administration of paroxetine using, for example, swallow tablets. Hence beneficial and improved results are obtained through the use of a formulation of paroxetine having both controlled and delayed release, as instantly claimed.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
